42nd Annual AYHC Symposium in the Palouse Region

The American Youth Horse Council is hosting their annual Symposium in Moscow, ID (Home of the Appaloosa Horse Club!) and Pullman, WA from March 8-10, 2019. This is an opportunity for youth competitive barrel racing horse after his race track career.

Caitlyn Kilmurry had the pleasure of competing on Mia Cale Man at the NBHA Youth World Championships recently in Perry, GA. The team earned the 1D Teen Reserve World Championship title, competing against 925 entries!

Keep an eye out at the National Finals Rodeo this year because there may be a chance this horse will be the first colored Appaloosa to compete at this world championship event in the barrel racing division. One of the top cowgirls in this sport, Tiany Schuster, has a shot at qualifying for the NFR again this year. Tiany was leading the world going into the NFR last year and finished third in World standings. Tiany has asked to include Mia Cale Man as one of her mounts if she gets the chance to compete this year!

Owner and trainer, Tami Mason, riding Shine from across the nation to attend educational workshops, equine industry tours, live horse demonstrations and more!

Time To Ride® is an equine industry initiative created to encourage and champion the growth of the U.S. horse industry by supporting the efforts of individual farms, non-profits and clubs to attract newcomers to horses. This grassroots approach gives barn owners the opportunity to grow their business by introducing non-horsey people to the beauty and benefits horses bring to our lives, while simultaneously growing the horse industry overall.

born on or after January 1, 2007 with an HYPP status of NH or HH, it will be required to be HYPP tested at the same time it is parentage verified in order to be registered. The HYPP test results will be designated on the foal's ApHC Certificate of Registration. Descendents of NH or HH ApHC-registered horses will also be required to be HYPP tested/Parentage Verified and have the HYPP status designated on their ApHC Certificates of Registration.

If you want to administer Acetazolamide, a drug used with apparent success for prevention of clinical episodes of paralysis, when showing your registered Appaloosa in an ApHC-approved or sponsored event, your Appaloosa's positive (N/H or H/H) HYPP test results must be documented through the ApHC by DNA testing from a sample that has also been tested to verify parentage. The positive HYPP status of your Appaloosa must be noted on the ApHC Certificate of Registration and made available to the public in the horse's files. This must be done prior to the horse being shown in any ApHC-approved or –sponsored show. For further information regarding administering acetazolamide, see Administration Guidelines in the current Official Handbook of the ApHC.
